School Overview

Teachers and administrators are very approachable for discussion and support. We focus on life's big questions which makes learning applicable, interesting, and fun. Parents like the intimacy of our small, supportive community. They feel good sending their children to a school that offers a balance of structured learning activities coupled with opportunities for individual expression and growth. Students like the integrated learning experience we offer. Our instructional activities help them make the developmental leap from concrete thinking to a more sophisticated mindset where relationships are drawn between ideas.
