School Overview

Repertory Company High School for Theatre Arts offers a college preparatory academic program and New York City's only comprehensive three part theatre arts sequence, where students hone their skills in music, dance, and acting. Students completing our program will graduate with an Advanced Regents diploma with Arts Endorsement in Theatre. Our location, in the heart of Times Square, supports our school's focus. Our small size offers students an intimate environment in which to explore all aspects of theatre from production to performance. Students can participate in the many student productions, including comedy or classical drama, student-written works, and a school-wide musical production each year. Our students maintain high academic standards and possess the willingness to explore all the imagination and creativity of theatre arts.
