School Overview

Central Park East High School (CPEHS) embodies New York City, a cultural Mecca. Students come together during and after the school day in clubs like Poetry, Chemistry, Digi, Running, Improv, and many more. Students are encouraged to succeed, and academic excellence is deeply rooted in the culture of the school community; but students are also expected to give back. CPEHS offers many programs during and after school; all of which involve students in activities that support and enrich their lives academically and socially. Caring eleventh graders support ninth graders in the Peer Group Connections mentoring program. Perhaps the best feature of CPEHS is that our teachers, guidance counselors, and administrators really care. The faculty take time to get know students individually and personally. They are deeply committed to education and care about each student's social and emotional well being.
