

The NYC School Survey helps school leaders understand what key members of the school community say about the learning environment at each school. The information captured by the survey is designed to support a dialogue among all members of the school community about how to make the school a better place to learn.

Every year, all parents, all teachers, and students in grades 6 - 12 take the NYC School Survey. The survey ranks among the largest of any kind ever conducted nationally. In 2010, 922,694 surveys out of a possible 1,480,276 were submitted, representing 62% of the NYC public school community.

Survey results are reported to schools at the end of the school year and provide insight into a school's learning environment. Survey results also contribute a measure of diversification to each school's Progress Report. NYC School Survey results contribute 10% - 15% of a school's Progress Report grade (the exact contribution to the Progress Report is dependant on school type). Survey questions elicit community satisfaction and feedback on four key elements of a school's learning environment: academic expectations, communication, engagement, and safety and respect.

A detailed breakdown of results is reported in each school's Survey Report. The Survey Report presents response rates, survey scores, and a question-by-question look at constituent responses. Section 1 of this guide explains survey scoring. Section 2 addresses frequently asked questions. Section 3 displays point values for each survey question.

Section 1: SURVEY SCORING

Each school receives four overall scores for the four categories of the survey: Academic Expectations, Communication, Engagement, and Safety and Respect. Calculating these school-level category scores begins with the responses of parents, teachers, and/or students at a school.

Question scoring

Question scores are determined by the responses to survey questions selected by respondents. Each response option is awarded a point value between 0 and 10. The response option that reflects most favorably on a school's learning environment is awarded 10 points. The response option that reflects least favorably on a school's learning environment is awarded 0 points. The intermediate choices are awarded point values between 0 and 10. Each question score is determined by the average point value of the answer choices of all respondents to that question. Specific information about point values awarded to each answer choice is detailed in Section 3 of this guide.

Category scoring

Category scores are determined by question scores. A category score is calculated for each respondent group (parents, teachers, or students) by averaging the scores of the questions assigned within that survey category. Category scores for each of the respondent groups are then combined to form overall category scores. The overall category scores determine a component of the environment section of a school's Progress Report.

Respondent group values

Respondent group scores are weighted equally, except in cases in which the response rate of one or more respondent groups is substantially below the scoring model average response rate for the group. In such cases, the group receiving the low response rate is given half the weight of the other groups. These adjustments are rare and typically affect less than 1% of schools.

For schools with three respondent groups (parents, teachers, and grade 6-12 students) surveyed, the weighting possibilities are outlined below:

	All groups reach minimum	One group does not reach minimum	Two groups do not reach minimum	All groups do not reach minimum
Respondent Group 1	33.3%	20%	25%	33.3%
Respondent Group 2	33.3%	40%	25%	33.3%
Respondent Group 3	33.3%	40%	50%	33.3%

For schools with two respondent groups surveyed (parents and teachers), weighting possibilities are outlined below:

	All groups reach minimum	One group does not reach minimum	All groups do not reach minimum
Respondent Group 1	50%	33.3%	50%
Respondent Group 2	50%	66.7%	50%

In cases in which no survey responses were received from a respondent group, final category scores are adjusted to allow fair comparisons to schools that have complete survey data. Because New York City parents, on average, rate schools more positively than teachers or students do, the scores for schools with no teacher or student responses (grade 6-12 students only) are reduced to assure that the school's score is not inappropriately inflated by the presence of parent responses and the absence of other responses.

For schools receiving no surveys from teachers or students, adjustments are outlined as follows:

If a school should have received survey data from:	But only received survey data from:	Adjustment to category score
Students, Teachers, Parents	Parents	-0.60
Teachers, Parents	Parents	-0.45
Students, Teachers, Parents	Students, Parents	-0.15
Students, Teachers, Parents	Teachers, Parents	-0.15
Students, Teachers, Parents	Students, Teachers	No adjustment is made
Teachers, Parents	Teachers	No adjustment is made

Response options

On certain questions, “Does Not Apply” or “Don’t Know” response options exist. These response options are not calculated with a value of “0”. Survey scores are calculated with a percentage distribution across all possible answers, including the percentage of respondents who chose “Does Not Apply” or “Don’t Know.” However, on certain questions, “Does Not Apply” and “Don’t Know” response options do not factor into the calculation of the question score and are marked as “No Score”.

Questions that incorporate a “Does Not Apply” or a “Don’t Know” response option that does not factor into the question score are valued by excluding these responses. To calculate a score for these questions, it is necessary to rescale the percentages of the contributing responses.

Take, for example, a school that has 10 responses to a question with response options “Does Not Apply”. Two respondents selected each response, which are assigned sample values shown below:

Response option	Strongly Agree	Agree	Disagree	Strongly Disagree	Does Not Apply
Point value	10 points	6.7 points	3.3 points	0 points	No Score
Percentage of respondents	20%	20%	20%	20%	20%

It is necessary to subtract the % of parents who responded “Does Not Apply” from 100%. In this case, this will result in 80%. Then, it is necessary to divide each percentage value for the other response options (all 20%) by the new denominator (80%). This means each value is worth 25% whereas before excluding the “Does Not Apply” set, the values were worth 20%. The school’s score for this question would be 5 points, calculated as shown below:

$(10 \text{ points}) * (25\% \text{ of responses}) + (6.7 \text{ points}) * (25\% \text{ of responses}) + (3.3 \text{ points}) * (25\% \text{ of responses}) + (0 \text{ points}) * (25\% \text{ of responses}) =$

$$10 * .25 + 6.7 * .25 + 3.3 * .25 + 0 * .25 =$$

$$2.5 + 1.675 + .825 + 0 = \mathbf{5 \text{ points}}$$

Section 2. Frequently Asked Questions

Are schools penalized for low response rates?

While high participation rates are important in gathering broad and representative information about a school, response rates are only reported for informational purposes and are not calculated in any accountability metrics. Survey scores and Progress Report grades reflect what a school’s constituents report, not how many participate.

How are response rates calculated?

The response rate is the number of surveys submitted divided by the number of people in the survey population. The student survey population is all students in the school who are in grades 6 through 12. The parent survey population is all parents of students in the school. Parents with more than one child in the same school are counted only once in the parent survey population. Parents with children in more than one school are counted once in each of those schools, because they are invited to fill out a survey for each school. The teacher survey population represents all full time teachers and guidance counselors in the school.

My school received surveys for substitute teachers or teachers on extended leave who were no longer in my school at the time of survey administration. Are these teachers included in my response rate?

The teacher survey population does not include substitute teachers. The teacher survey population does include teachers on leave if they were on a school’s payroll list as of December and as of May of that school year.

The survey asked parents with more than one child in the same school to complete just one survey for that school. Does the response rate reflect that?

Parents with more than one child in the same school, as determined by the data contained in ATS, are counted only once in the parent survey population and are directed to complete one survey per school.

When I divide the number of student surveys submitted by the enrollment listed on the Survey Report, the result does not equal my student response rate. Why?

The student survey population is based on the number of 6 through 12 grade students in the school as listed in ATS as of December and May of that school year. The student enrollment listed on the Survey Report is based on the total number of students in the October 31 Audited Register.

Some survey questions do not evaluate my school. For example, parent surveys ask “What are the BEST ways for your child’s school or teachers to get information to you about your child’s education?” And teacher surveys ask “How long have you been a teacher at this school?” Are these questions counted on the Progress Report?

Survey questions that do not evaluate schools are not counted on the survey report. These demographic questions and questions about preferences are marked “NS” (not scored) on the Survey Report.

The sum of response percentages to each answer choices to one survey question does not equal 100%. Why?

Percentages are rounded to the second decimal place. In some cases, due to rounding, the sum of percentages of respondents selecting each answer choice to one survey question may not equal exactly 100%.

How are schools categorized and compared?

Schools are categorized and compared by school type as outlined below:

School type	Grade range
Early Childhood School	K-3
Elementary School	K-6
Elementary / Middle School	K-8
Elementary / Middle / High School	K-6, K-8, K-12, 6-8, 6-12, 9-12
Middle School	K-12, 6-8, 6-12
Middle / High School	6-8, 6-12, 9-12
High School	K-12, 6-12, 9-12
Transfer School	9-12 (Transfer Schools only)
YABC	YABCs

How are blank responses handled?

Survey participation is voluntary and participants are encouraged to answer as many questions as they can. To calculate scores for each question on the Survey Report, response percentages are calculated by dividing the number of respondents selecting each choice by the total number of respondents who answered that particular question. Respondents who left the question blank are not included in the percentages reported per survey question and do not have an impact on the question’s score.

How are multiple responses treated on the Survey Report?

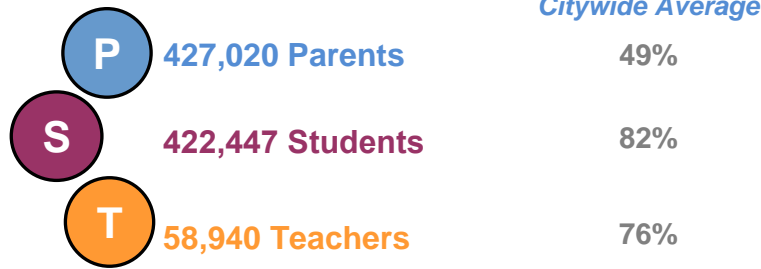

Answer choices of respondents who selected multiple answer choices to questions that did not indicate “check all that apply” are not reported and are not included in scoring.

3. Section 3: Survey Scoring Model

This section provides the point values for all parent, teacher, and student questions on the NYC School Survey. Parent survey questions are listed first followed by student and teacher responses. Questions are assigned to and sorted by four categories: Academic Expectations, Communication, Engagement and Safety and Respect.

All numbers below are point values. Scores for each question are reported as a number between 0 and 10; the highest possible score for each question is 10.

Who took the 2010 School Survey?

P Academic Expectations: Parents feel that the school develops rigorous and meaningful academic goals that encourage students to do their best.
