The Proposed Co-location of New High School 08X559 with Existing School Jane Addams High School for Academics and Careers (08X650) and New Visions Charter High School (84XTBD) in School Building X650, Beginning in 2012-2013

I. Description of the subject and purpose of the proposed item under consideration.

The New York City Department of Education (“DOE”) is proposing to co-locate a new Career and Technical Education (“CTE”) high school, 08X559 (“08X559”), in building X650 beginning in 2012-2013. 08X559 is a new district school that would serve students in grades nine through twelve at scale. Building X650 is located at 900 Tinton Avenue, Bronx, NY 10456, within the geographical confines of Community School District 8 (“District 8”). A “co-location” means that two or more school organizations are located in the same building and may share common spaces like auditoriums, gymnasiums, libraries, and cafeterias.

In a separate Educational Impact Statement (“EIS”), the DOE is proposing to phase out and eventually close Jane Addams High School for Academic Careers (08X650, “Jane Addams”). Jane Addams, an existing school serving students in grades nine through twelve, is currently located in building X650. If the Panel for Education Policy (“PEP”) approves the proposal to phase out Jane Addams, 08X559 would be co-located in building X650 with Jane Addams as it phases out. In addition, X650 houses a Living for the Young Family Through Education (“LYFE”) program.

The DOE proposed to phase out Jane Addams after an extensive review of data and community feedback indicating that the school lacks the capacity to turn around quickly to better support student needs. If approved, Jane Addams would no longer admit new ninth-grade students after the conclusion of the 2011-2012 school year. The school’s enrollment would decrease gradually over the next three years, and the school would complete its phase-out in June 2015. The details of the phase-out proposal can be found at <http://schools.nyc.gov/AboutUs/leadership/PEP/publicnotice/2011-2012/Feb2012Proposals>.

In the event that the phase-out of Jane Addams is not approved, the DOE would re-examine the availability of space in building X650, and may, if appropriate, revise this co-location proposal.

In a separate EIS, the DOE is also proposing to open and co-locate New Visions Charter High School for the Humanities II (84XTBD, “HUM II”), a new public charter high school which will offer CTE programming in building X650 beginning in 2012-2013. If these proposals are approved, the new high school would be co-located with HUM II in building X650 throughout the course of its phase-in and thereafter. HUM II would open in September 2012 with ninth grade and would add one grade every year until reaching its full grade span of grades nine through twelve in 2015-2016. That EIS can be accessed on the DOE Web site at <http://schools.nyc.gov/AboutUs/leadership/PEP/publicnotice/2011-2012/Feb2012Proposals>.

The proposed co-location of 08X559 in building X650 is part of the DOE's central goal to create new school options that would better serve future students and the community at large. 08X559 would offer a rigorous, college-preparatory program with a Career and Technical Education ("CTE") component, would be open to students through the Citywide High School Admissions Process, and would have an unscreened selection method. The new school would open for the 2012-2013 school year, when it would serve approximately 130-140 students in the ninth grade. 08X559 would gradually phase in by adding one grade per year. The school is expected to reach full scale in 2015-2016 when it would serve approximately 520-560 students in grades nine through twelve.

In 2010-2011, X650 had a target capacity of 1,241 students, but the building enrolled a total of 985 students, yielding a target building utilization rate of 79%. In the current 2011-2012 school year, the building is serving approximately 727 students, yielding a target utilization rate of 59%.

In 2015-2016, once Jane Addams has completed its proposed phase-out and both 08X559 and HUM II have reached full scale, there would be approximately 1,060-1,220 students served in the building, which would yield a target building utilization rate of approximately 85-98%.

Background on the DOE's Decision-Making Process

The DOE strives to ensure that all students in New York City have access to high-quality schools at every stage of their education. Additionally, the DOE is committed to providing high-quality CTE programs to students in New York City. As detailed in a separate EIS posted on December 22, 2011, the DOE is proposing to phase out Jane Addams due to the school's history of poor performance. The DOE believes that continuing to allocate space and resources to schools that are unable to significantly improve student performance is neither efficient nor equitable.

As part of the replacement strategy for Jane Addams, the DOE is proposing to recover the seats lost through the phase-out of Jane Addams by opening two new high schools in building X650, 08X559 and HUM II.

The subject of this proposal, 08X559, would offer a rigorous, college-preparatory program with a CTE component designed to equip students with the skills necessary to achieve post-secondary success in college and careers. As noted, it would admit students through the High School Admissions Process.
