

NYC School Survey Citywide Results

July 2015

NYC School Survey participation remained high with nearly one million respondents

Over 350,000 more constituents responded this year than in 2007 when the Survey was first administered

Parent survey participation remained high across boroughs

Staten Island: 55%
 District 75: 34%
 Charter Schools: 55%

This year, the survey was revised to solicit feedback across the six elements of the Framework for Great Schools

- Based on robust research, the six elements of the Framework for Great Schools identify the areas that must improve to increase student achievement.
- By focusing attention and resources on what it takes for schools to function well, the Framework identifies the underlying strengths and weaknesses of a school and shows community members concrete ways to improve student achievement.

Examples of Framework Aligned Survey Questions

Element	Survey Item
Rigorous Instruction	> I learn a lot from feedback on my work. (S)
Supportive Environment	> The teachers at this school notice when I am upset or having emotional difficulty. (S)
Collaborative Teachers	> Teachers in this school share/discuss students' work with other teachers. (T)
Effective School Leadership	> The principal at this school sets high standards for student learning. (T)
Strong Family-Community Ties	> School staff encourage feedback from parents/guardians and the community. (P)
Trust	> Staff at this school work hard to build trusting relationships with parents/guardians like me. (P)

Survey Results will also be incorporated into the 2014-15 School Quality Reports

- Building on changes from last year — the reports move beyond test scores, with increased emphasis on school practices and environment.
- Reports now align to the Framework to provide a clear picture of each school’s strengths and areas of growth in each element.
- Reports are designed to foster collaborative conversations about school improvement between school leaders and school communities.
