Why Connect with Kids Works

Connect with Kids videos feature real kids and their families sharing their true stories and issues. Using the power of storytelling and peer-to-peer connections, the programs create heart-felt associations and positive behavioral change in students. Research shows that when we are emotionally connected with an experience, we are more likely to make life-long behavioral changes than when we just receive information. Compelling videos and research-based resources are ideal for parent meetings and workshops to help families to learn real-life strategies that support academic and lifelong success.
