The Proposed Closure of John Adams High School (27Q480) and the Opening of New School (27Q570) in Building Q480 Beginning in 2012-2013

I. Description of the subject and purpose of the proposed item under consideration.

On March 5, 2012, the New York City Department of Education (“DOE”) published a proposal to close John Adams High School (27Q480, “John Adams”), an existing district high school in building Q480 (“Q480”), located at 101-01 Rockaway Boulevard, Queens, NY 11417, and transportable classroom unit Q726 located at 108-01 Rockaway Boulevard, within the geographical confines of Community School District 27. It currently serves students in grades nine through twelve. The DOE is proposing to immediately replace John Adams with New School (27Q570, “New School”), a new district high school which will serve students in grades nine through twelve in Q480. This amended EIS corrects a typographical error on page 21 referencing the numbers of ninth grade students entering the school through the High School Admissions Process and through Over-the-Counter placement. This amended EIS also identifies the transportable classroom unit which is occupied by John Adams.

If this proposal is approved, John Adams will close at the conclusion of the 2011-2012 school year. All current students who have not graduated before the start of the 2012-2013 school year will be guaranteed a seat at and automatically enrolled in New School.

John Adams admits students through the Citywide High School Admissions Process using a zoned method and an Educational Option method. John Adams also offers three Career and Technical Education (“CTE”) pathways. Additional information about CTE programming and the High School Admissions Process is contained in Section III of this Educational Impact Statement (“EIS”). New School is planning to continue programming in all of the same CTE career clusters that John Adams currently offers and, therefore, students enrolled in CTE programming at John Adams would have the opportunity to enroll in CTE programming at New School.

In addition, Q480 houses a Young Adult Borough Center, John Adams YABC (Q487, “YABC”), and a part-time GED Plus – Learning-to-Work program (“GED Plus – LTW”).

The DOE strives to ensure that all students in New York City have access to a high-quality school at every stage of their education. By closing John Adams and replacing it with New School, the DOE is seeking to expeditiously improve educational quality in Q480.

If this proposal is approved, New School will develop rigorous school-specific competencies to measure and screen prospective staff, including former John Adams staff members who apply to work at New School. Based on these criteria, and in accordance with the staffing requirements in Article 18-D of the DOE's existing contract with the United Federation of Teachers ("UFT"), New School will put in place a process aimed at hiring the best possible staff, thus immediately improving teacher quality and, by extension, improving the quality of learning. New School plans to develop new programs and school supports that are intended to improve student outcomes. By doing this important work to improve student outcomes, the DOE also will maximize New School's chance of receiving up to $1,800,000 in supplemental federal funding under the federal School Improvement Grant ("SIG") program. New School will build on the strongest elements of John Adams and incorporate new elements, including new talent, designed to better meet student needs. Thus, the immediate closure and replacement of John Adams with New School should give students access to a higher-quality educational option while they continue to attend school in the same building.
