School Mission Statement

CPE 1 is the first of the network of small progressive schools in District 4 designed by a group of teachers and later led by Deborah Meier. It continues its proud traditions of child-centered pedagogy. CPE 1 draws children from throughout the City and now is educating the children of its early students. Housed on one floor of the Jackie Robinson Complex, CPE 1 maintains its unique atmosphere. On any given day you may find children playing violin, cooking the daily snack for class, weaving, sewing, building a doll house, discussing favorite books, writing scripts, binding books, researching on the internet, singing, dancing, painting, skating, and in passionate debate. Choice, learning by doing, hands on learning are not buzz words here, they are vital parts of the children's lives every single day. By choosing work, being held responsible for choices, and working together, children learn their place in the larger community.

Principal's Statement

CPE 1 has a strong integrated curriculum that assists children in developing the skills they'll need to become active in our changing world. Children's aesthetic, physical, emotional, social and moral development are as important to us as their academic growth. Balancing the needs of the individual and the community is an ongoing challenge.

Special Academic Programs

The school benefits from the support of reading, speech/language, OT, counseling specialists. Harlem Family Institute provides additional therapeutic support. East Harlem Tutorial program provides a fully funded after school program.

Extracurricular Activities

Boys chorus, girls chorus, mixed chorus, New Amsterdam Boys Choir, Ballet Tech, Opus 118 violin program, guitar & recorder clubs, visiting Fulbright storyteller, weekly skating in Central Park

Community Support

Many educational organizations want their students to work and study here. Sara Lawrence, Bank Street, Teachers College, LIU, Hunter, all send student teachers. Many high school students are also learning about teaching here.

Parent/School Support

Parents are m major force in the school. There is an active PA, and SLT. Parents assist by bringing museum programs, arts connections, doing office work, arranging trips, and organizing school wide events.
