School Mission Statement

The mission of Bard High School Early College is to provide bright, highly motivated students of high school age the opportunity to be challenged by a rigorous course of study that emphasizes thinking through writing, discussion and enquiry, enabling them to begin college upon completing the 10th grade. The program is designed to engage students in the life of the mind by making them aware of the Western cultural heritage and modes of thought from other cultures. Students experience a broad spectrum of thought in the liberal art and sciences, develop their intellectual curiosity and are empowered to satisfy this curiosity by thinking and learning independently.

Principal's Statement

Bard High School offers a number of internships during the summer and regular academic year. Our students study in China and Eastern Europe.

Special Academic Programs

Bard High School Early College offers a music curriculum through the American Symphony Orchestra and its science program has been developed in consultation with faculty from Bard College and Rockefeller University.

Extracurricular Activities

Bard High School offers a number of internships during the summer and regular academic year. Our students study in China and Eastern Europe.

Community Support

In addition to our connection to the American Symphony Orchestra and Rockefeller University, we have faculty development projects underway through our connection with the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

Parent/School Support

Parents are active through the Parent Teachers Association.
