School Mission Statement

Within a warm community environment, the Pablo Neruda Academy for Architecture and World Studies offers a rich, interdisciplinary and project based program where students learn by doing. We seek to extend the boundaries of the classroom in the belief that learning takes place all around us. In partnership with the Salvadori Center, an organization of architect educators, students discover how buildings are built and how principles of design are used, as they design and build their own structures. All of these explorations must unfold within an atmosphere that is safe and fair. As leaders of tomorrow, students help shape many important policies that define who we are. Our mission is to prepare students for college and life beyond as highly literate, critical thinkers, who are also compassionate and engaged world citizens.

Principal's Statement

This is our creation, it's growing this very instant...--Pablo Neruda

Taking our school's name from the Nobel Prize winning poet Pablo Neruda, we too are proud of our creation. We look for every opportunity to open doors for students onto a different landscape. Working with partner organizations like the Salvadori Ctr., Institute for Student Achievement and New Visions, we network internships, extended day programs, weekend leadership and team building activities and scholarships. Our students take college courses, enter competitions and seek career oriented summer jobs. All of this is linked to our rigorous academic and college prep course of study.
