Dear School Community,

This report provides a view of the arts education opportunities you are providing for your students based on your responses to the Annual Arts Education Survey in May 2015 and includes information from the New York City Department of Education's databases.

The Annual Arts in Schools Report is an important part of the New York Department of Education's efforts to ensure that schools are providing students with high-quality arts education they need and deserve. The report has been created to help school leaders, parents, and teachers understand how they can improve student learning in the arts, building on the Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts which provides detailed PreK-12 curricula aligned with State standards:

New York State Guidelines and Requirements for Arts Education

The New York State Education Department (NYSED) has specific guidelines and requirements for arts instruction.

At the elementary level, in grades PreK-6, students should receive instruction in dance, music, theater, and visual arts. In addition, NYSED recommends that students spend a specific allocation of hours learning in the arts.

At the middle school level, in grades 7 and 8, the NYSED expects that students achieve, by the end of grade 8 one half-unit in dance, music, theater, or visual arts, and second half-unit in a second arts discipline.

At the high school level, the NYSED requires that all students graduate having taken at least two credits in the arts (dance, music, theater, and/or visual arts).

School's Arts Program Description

This school has submitted the following description of its arts program:

P94M The Spectrum School is becoming known as the District 75 School of Visual and Performing Arts. Building on our strong partnerships with ArtsConnection and Marquis Studios, our twenty arts specialists engage k-12 students with special needs in visual art, music, theater and creative movement. In class instruction and residencies students creatively access CCLS in literacy and math while exploring social studies and science through the arts. Our musical theater program, STAARS (Sequential Teaching in Arts, Action Research and Scholarship), is a sequential arts curriculum based in arts education research and the NYC Blueprint for the Arts, through which children learn the social-emotional and communication skills they need to succeed in school, academics and daily life. STAARS was the subject of a national documentary, SPECTRUM OF HOPE, distributed free online by Music Theater International in April 2015. In 2014-2015, our program expanded to high school. As our high school grows, a dedicated Coordinator of Arts Instruction and Programming is working with the NYC cultural community to create internship opportunities for our students who are ready for college and career training. With a new teacher focus on learning goals and assessments this year, students increased 25% towards IEP goals within the arts setting. In 2015-2016, we will work to integrate our proven arts instruction strategies into the classroom and therapy settings to help students explore skills more creatively and master them successfully.

Notes

- The Annual Arts in Schools Report is based on schools' responses to the 2014-2015 NYCDOE Annual Arts Education Survey as well as from NYCDOE databases.
- Data on arts instruction provided by school-based teachers to students in Kindergarten through sixth grade were retrieved from the NYCDOE Scheduling, Transcripts, and Academic Reporting System (STARS) database.
- Data on sixth through twelfth grade students participating in arts classes; high school sequences; the NYSED middle school arts requirement; and the NYSED high school arts requirements were retrieved from the NYCDOE STARS database.
- Full-time certified teacher data were retrieved from the NYCDOE Division of Human Resources.
- All data are based on arts instruction offered during the school day. This Annual Arts in Schools Report does not report on after school, weekend, and summer arts education.
- Throughout this report, a blank field represents "none" or no data provided.

Definitions

- "Pull-out" programs refer to those school day instructional activities that are scheduled for groupings of students across a grade or grades and not by official class.
- An Individualized Education Plan (IEP) describes the special education and related services specifically designed to meet the unique educational needs of a student with a disability. An IEP is the guiding document for a student's educational program. It includes all of the goals, objectives, present levels of performance and related services that are recommended for the student.
