Dear School Community,

This report provides a view of the arts education opportunities you are providing for your students based on your responses to the Annual Arts Education Survey in May 2015 and includes information from the New York City Department of Education's databases.

The Annual Arts in Schools Report is an important part of the New York Department of Education's efforts to ensure that schools are providing students with high-quality arts education they need and deserve. The report has been created to help school leaders, parents, and teachers understand how they can improve student learning in the arts, building on the Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts which provides detailed PreK-12 curricula aligned with State standards:

New York State Guidelines and Requirements for Arts Education

The New York State Education Department (NYSED) has specific guidelines and requirements for arts instruction.

At the elementary level, in grades PreK-6, students should receive instruction in dance, music, theater, and visual arts. In addition, NYSED recommends that students spend a specific allocation of hours learning in the arts.

At the middle school level, in grades 7 and 8, the NYSED expects that students achieve, by the end of grade 8 one half-unit in dance, music, theater, or visual arts, and second half-unit in a second arts discipline.

At the high school level, the NYSED requires that all students graduate having taken at least two credits in the arts (dance, music, theater, and/or visual arts).

School's Arts Program Description

This school has submitted the following description of its arts program:

PS 131 has a strong commitment to arts education; the school provides many opportunities for its students to experience different arts disciplines. Our arts faculty is fully state certified and provides standards based instruction, articulating and integrating the arts into classroom instruction in conjunction with the Common Core Learning Standards. PS 131 administration provided funds for arts instruction, trips to cultural organizations, in-house residencies as well as staff development for arts teachers. Our students participated in many assemblies as well as concerts, theatre and dance performances and arts related field trips. In addition, Public School 131 was the recipient of a New York City Department of Education grant that provided funds to introduce an art residency called Making Books Sing. This program promoted children's literacy and social development through arts-in-education. In addition, this spring, P.S. 131 singers, actors and musicians joined forces and performed in a production of Charles Strouse's Broadway musical, "Annie." Furthermore, our entire school participated in a dance festival featuring performances of different dance styles. These experiences allowed our students to be arts makers, have literacy in the arts, make connections with other disciplines, be aware of their community and cultural resources, develop cooperation and appreciation for the talents of different artists and grow into lifelong learners of the arts.

Notes

- The Annual Arts in Schools Report is based on schools' responses to the 2014-2015 NYCDOE Annual Arts Education Survey as well as from NYCDOE databases.
- Data on arts instruction provided by school-based teachers to students in Kindergarten through sixth grade were retrieved from the NYCDOE Scheduling, Transcripts, and Academic Reporting System (STARS) database.
- Data on sixth through twelfth grade students participating in arts classes; high school sequences; the NYSED middle school arts requirement; and the NYSED high school arts requirements were retrieved from the NYCDOE STARS database.
- Full-time certified teacher data were retrieved from the NYCDOE Division of Human Resources.
- All data are based on arts instruction offered during the school day. This Annual Arts in Schools Report does not report on after school, weekend, and summer arts education.
- Throughout this report, a blank field represents "none" or no data provided.

Definitions

- "Pull-out" programs refer to those school day instructional activities that are scheduled for groupings of students across a grade or grades and not by official class.
- An Individualized Education Plan (IEP) describes the special education and related services specifically designed to meet the unique educational needs of a student with a disability. An IEP is the guiding document for a student's educational program. It includes all of the goals, objectives, present levels of performance and related services that are recommended for the student.
