

Free Conference on Working with Students with Challenging Behaviors

All schools / Event: January 21-22

District 75 will present a free interactive, online conference for staff and parents working with students who present challenging behaviors. Nationally-recognized researchers and experts will outline evidence-based systems and practical tips. Speakers will include: Dr. Lucille Eber (Director, IL PBIS Network), Dr. Nicholas Long (founder of the Life Space Crisis Intervention Institute), Dr. Marc Brackett (Yale University), and Dr. Laura Riffel (Behavior Doctor Seminars).

Topics will include:

- practical tips for designing classroom and community-based positive behavior support systems that support all students
- understanding why children engage in disruptive behaviors, and interventions for breaking the conflict cycle when supporting children in crisis
- the basic tenets of emotional literacy, including how to understand and regulate your own emotional responses when faced with stressful situations in the classroom

The conference will be held January 21 and 22, 3:15-5:00 p.m. To register, visit <http://district75.net/behaviorconference/>.
