

Families

The CCSE invites you to

A Free Public Screening of Inside Dyslexia: A Documentary
by Josh Easdon and Nate Hamlin

Inside Dyslexia is an honest and sensitive film inspired by two young men who bravely share their own first hand stories about learning differences. The film is about real children with real learning difficulties and how they and their families struggle to find strength while learning to advocate for themselves. It beautifully depicts the role of the supporting parents and teachers who play a role in the child's development. Informative, moving, inspiring! — Kristine Baxter, Head, The Churchill School and Center

Followed by a Q&A session on programs/resources available with

Danielle Mowery, Outreach Associate,
The International Dyslexia Association (New York Branch)

Marjorie Bissainthe, Outreach Director,
Recording for the Blind & Dyslexic (New York Unit)

Lorraine Boyhan, District 75

at our February Public Meeting
February 13th, 2008
6:30pm

P79M
55 East 120th Street
(Between Madison & Park Avenue)
New York, NY 10035
(212) 369-3134

~ Childcare available ~

Anyone interested is encouraged to sign up to speak or ask questions.

If you need translation services, please contact the CCSE one week prior to the meeting at 718-752-7393.