SECTION III: SCHOOL PROFILE

Part A. Narrative Description

Directions: In no more than 500 words, provide contextual information about your school's community and its unique/important characteristics. Think of this as the kind of narrative description you would use in an admissions directory or an introductory letter to new parents. You may wish to include your school's vision/mission statement and a description of strategic collaborations/ partnerships and/or special initiatives being implemented. You may copy and paste your narrative description from other current resources where this information is already available for your school (e.g., grant applications, High School Directory, etc.). Note: Demographic and accountability data for your school will be addressed in Part B of this section.

MISSION STATEMENT

Boys and Girls High School is committed to providing a safe and secure environment that enables our students to display growth and development academically, intellectually and socially. We remain cognizant of the ethnic and social diversity of the school's population. It is imperative that quality learning strategies related to multiculturalism, bilingualism, curriculum content and context that facilitate the learning of the at-risk and special education students be infused into the school's short and long term goals and objectives. It is our moral responsibility to prepare students to become productive citizens. As such, our school serves as a vehicle that will have a remarkable bearing on a child's capacity to thrive. Our approach to urban education is a collaborative effort: dedicated staff + disciplined students + parental involvement + staunch leadership = A large urban high school that works!

VISION STATEMENT

We have set high expectations for students in relationship to literacy and the development of appropriate mathematical skills. Instructional effectiveness is paramount for our school to maintain its academic viability. Furthermore, we realize that it is important that we seek the active interest and intelligent participation of other groups to address concerns related to student attendance and guidance, professional development and parental and community involvement with the learning process. The staff at Boys and Girls has a moral obligation to prepare our students to become responsible and productive citizens. We must see the school as an extension of the child's home and community; a vehicle that can have a tremendous impact on the child's ability to succeed in our society. We must enlist the community and other pertinent organizations to aid in the continual evaluation and implementation of academic programs and processes. Our ultimate goal is to release an educated product that is intellectually and morally competent and committed to the betterment of the human race.

BACKGROUND

Boys and Girls High School (BGHS) is a co-educational comprehensive secondary school. Our educational program is aimed at promoting the academic, vocational and social maturity of students; many with a history of inadequate academic performance, personal and social problems. When combined, these factors put their graduation at risk. In addition to our normal academic course offerings, the school makes available special activities to help students flourish academically.

Located in the Bedford - Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, Boys and Girls High School serves a population of students from grades 9-12. The school's October 21, 2008 register was 2980. Our student-body is made up of 91% African/Caribbean American, 7% Latino, 2% other, 62% male and 27% female. Additionally, 65.9% of students are economically disadvantaged and qualify for free lunch.

Students who entered BGHS came from over 100 middle schools around the New York City area. Based on the enrollment data, over 85% of the entering 2008 9th grade students were below the New York State Standards in ELA and/or Mathematics. Many of our struggling students suffer from academic and social problems which impede their ability to attend school regularly. Over 650 students with special needs have Individualized Educational Plans (IEPs). Approximately 500 special needs students are self-contained and 150 are in mainstream courses that receive mandated IEP services. We service 76 English Language Learners (ELL). All students identified will receive extra assistance to meet their deficiencies. The Scholastic Aptitude Test mean scores obtained for the verbal and math portions were 415 and 412 respectively.

All students are assigned to Academic Advisory which is supervised by a guidance counselor, a college advisor and other student support personnel. Our houses include; the Scholars Institute, Collegiate Institute, Technology Institute, Entertainment & Visual Arts, International Academy, Principal's Academy, Instructional Support Institute and Career Development. As we provide alternatives for students to be successful academically, Boys and Girls High School has established an educational support structure that extends outside the boundaries of the traditional school day. Summer School, extended day and Saturday school are productive instruments that allow students the educational opportunity to not only make-up credits but also be exposed to alternative teaching styles and methods. Our incoming freshmen class is mandated to participate in a summer school program designed to address basic math and literacy skills as well as to develop leadership qualities. The after-school tutorial program, The Writing Center, Read On! and the after-school homework helpers program are all geared to providing supplemental services for our at-risk population. Our administrative staff and faculty are encouraged to participate in our "Exemplary Mentoring Program"; in which staff closely monitors selected at-risk students and monitors their individual progress.

SECTION IV: NEEDS ASSESSMENT

Directions: Conduct a comprehensive review of your school's educational program informed by the most current quantitative and qualitative data available regarding student performance trends and other indicators of progress. Include in your needs assessment an analysis of information available from New York State Education Department and New York City Department of Education accountability and assessment resources, i.e., School Report Cards, Progress Reports, Quality Review and Quality Review Self-Assessment documents, periodic assessments, ARIS, as well as results of Inquiry Team action research, surveys, and school-based assessments. (Refer to your school's Demographics and Accountability Snapshot in Part B of Section III.) It may also be useful to review the schools use of resources: last year's school budget, schedule, facility use, class size, etc.

After conducting your review, summarize in this section the major findings and highlights of your school's strengths, accomplishments, and challenges. Consider the following questions:

- What student performance trends can you identify?
 - What have been the greatest accomplishments over the last couple of years?
 - What are the most significant aids or barriers to the school's continuous improvement?

Results from ATS regarding student achievement levels in the 7th grade ELA and Mathematics exams, indicate a large number of students failed to meet state standards. As a result the Freshmen Summer Academy was designed. Instruction in Mathematics and English were offered in addition to a study skills course. The rationale was to ease the transition of these 8th graders into high school, both socially and academically. Other subjects were offered to students who were at grade level in ELA or Mathematics.

To further assist those 9th graders who were struggling with ELA and/or Mathematics in the fall, double period math and double period English classes were created. The second period of the double period focused on fundamental skills to supplement the proficiency they gained previously to equip them for the 9th grade curricula and complete high school. Teachers of the double period classes meet regularly to plan and discuss curricula that will be evaluated and adjusted to meet the needs of their students. These extra periods were created to provide our freshmen with extra time and support to improve the math and literacy skills, so that they may successfully meet the New York Standards.

An evaluation of transcripts takes place at the beginning of every semester to ascertain in which subject areas sophomore, junior, and senior students need credits. Then the extended day programs are tailored to offer PM School, Saturday, and credit-recovery courses in those very same areas. This assessment is done as a collaborative effort that includes the Principal, and the Assistant Principals of Supervision, Guidance, and Administration.

This year, students who will be taking the Math Regents or the English Regents in January & June 2010 will be given Regents-year English and Integrated Algebra predictive assessments. The results of these assessments will be shared with the teachers and their specific students, so that they may focus instruction in areas that meet the needs of their particular students. The results will also let students know where their strengths are, as well as areas in which they need to improve.

Teachers will begin the school year with a desktop computer that is connected to the internet to assist with data to educate the "whole student". They will be able to take full advantage of the data made available to them from ARIS to find out the history of their students, the exams they have taken, the scores received and their attendance patterns.

The English, Math, and Life Sciences teachers will be able to make use of the assessment tools offered with the Scranton Performance Series Assessments that allow teachers to customize tests based on specific standards relating to New York State curricula. Results from these assessments will be used to revise the lessons to improve any weak areas found.

English and Math teachers will be able to use assessment tools from Acuity to gauge the readiness of their students to take New York State Regents exams, and adapt their teaching accordingly, to best meet the needs of the students.

Houses were developed to meet the needs of all students at Boys and Girls High School. Based on our assessment, we have determined that more staff was needed to provide students academic, attendance, post-secondary, mental-health, counseling intervention. Staff will work together to develop a comprehensive curriculum, intervention programs and other experiences to help students successfully meet NYS standards and compete in the 21st Century. With this new structure will need to develop several committees to meet the demand of all of our academic houses. The following committees will commence will start, fall 2008, attendance, technology, curriculum, activities, house, Title 1-SWP, staff recruitment, middle school articulation and professional development committee.

Finally, the school's Inquiry Team has been monitoring a group of students through the year, and we will be reviewing their recommendations for the school to consider in its plan for the coming year.

SECTION V: ANNUAL SCHOOL GOALS

Directions: Based on the findings and implications from the comprehensive needs assessment (Section IV), determine your school's instructional goals for 2008-09 and list them in this section along with a few phrases of description. The resulting list should include a limited number of goals (5 is a good guideline), and the list as a whole should be a clear reflection of your priorities for the year. Good goals should be SMART – Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Realistic, and Time-bound.

Notes: (1) In Section VI of this template, you will need to complete an "action plan" for each annual goal listed in this section. (2) Schools designated for NCLB/SED improvement (SURR, SINI, and SRAP) must identify a goal and complete an action plan for each subject/area of identification. (2) When developed, Principal's Performance Review (PPR) goals should presumably be aligned to the school's annual goals described in this section.

Goal 1	Boys and Girls High School will provide a rigorous instructional program to enable all students to meet the Regents and graduation requirements as they are implemented.
Objective	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • By June 2010 overall graduation rate will increase by 2%. • By June 2010, student participation rates on all eligible Regents examination will improve by 2%. • By 2010 promotional rates in all grade levels will increase by 2% • By June 2010, the number of students achieving at or above 65% on the Math A & Integrated Algebra Regents will increase by 2%. • By June 2010, the number of students achieving at or above 65% on the ELA will increase by 2%. • By June 2010, the number of students achieving at or above 65% on the Global and US History will increase by 2%. • By June 2010, the number of students achieving at or above 65% on the Living Environment Regents will increase by 2%.
Goal 2	Boys and Girls High School will improve school wide accessibility to Special Education related services and fully integrate Special Education structures with that of Regular Education leading to improve academic performance of students.

Goal 2	Boys and Girls HS will provide professional development opportunities and programs that ensure the success of all students.
Objective	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • By June 2010, all Boys and Girls High School staff will participate in professional development activities focused on subject appropriate issues related to the development of more effective teaching strategies and various methods for conducting assessment and evaluation of instructional material.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ALL teachers, administrators, para professional, guidance personnel, etc. will be required to participate in professional development opportunities to decrease students' achievement gap. • Faculty and departmental conferences will provide opportunities for administrators and staff members to share best practices and /or curriculum development.

Goal 4	Boys and Girls will improved the yearly attendance rate
Objective	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • By June 2010, Boys and Girls High School yearly attendance rate will be increase by 2%. • By June 2010 the number of “no show” students will be reduced by 25%.

SECTION VI: ACTION PLAN

Directions: The action plan should be used as a tool to support effective implementation and to evaluate progress toward meeting goals. Use the action plan template provided below to indicate key strategies and activities to be implemented for the 2008-09 school year to support accomplishment of each annual goal identified in Section V. The action plan template should be duplicated as necessary. Reminder: Schools designated for NCLB/SED improvement (SURR, SINI, and SRAP) must identify a goal and complete an action plan for each subject/area of identification.

Part C: TITLE I SCHOOLWIDE PROGRAM SCHOOLS

Directions: Describe how the school will implement the following components of a Schoolwide Program as required under NCLB. Note: If a required component is already addressed elsewhere in this plan, you may refer to the page numbers where the response can be found.

1. A comprehensive needs assessment of the entire school that is based on information on the performance of children in relation to the State academic content and student academic achievement standards.

Results from ATS regarding student achievement levels in the 7th grade ELA and Mathematics exams, indicate a large number of students failed to meet state standards. As a result the Freshmen Summer Academy was designed. Instruction in Mathematics and English were offered in addition to a study skills course. The rationale was to ease the transition of these 8th graders into high school, both socially and academically. Other subjects were offered to students who were at grade level in ELA or Mathematics.

To further assist those 9th graders who were struggling with ELA and/or Mathematics in the fall, double period math and double period English classes were created. The second period of the double period focused on fundamental skills to supplement the proficiency they gained previously to equip them for the 9th grade curricula and complete high school. Teachers of the double period classes meet regularly to plan and discuss curricula that will be evaluated and adjusted to meet the needs of their students. These extra periods were created to provide our freshmen with extra time and support to improve the math and literacy skills, so that they may successfully meet the New York Standards.

An evaluation of transcripts takes place at the beginning of every semester to ascertain in which subject areas sophomore, junior, and senior students need credits. Then the extended day programs are tailored to offer PM School, Saturday, and credit-recovery courses in those very same areas. This assessment is done as a collaborative effort that includes the Principal, and the Assistant Principals of Supervision, Guidance, and Administration.

This year, students who will be taking the Math Regents or the English Regents in January & June 2010 will be given Regents-year English and Integrated Algebra predictive assessments. The results of these assessments will be shared with the teachers and their specific students, so that they may focus instruction in areas that meet the needs of their particular students. The results will also let students know where their strengths are, as well as areas in which they need to improve.

Teachers will begin the school year with a desktop computer that is connected to the internet to assist with data to educate the "whole student". They will be able to take full advantage of the data made available to them from ARIS to find out the history of their students, the exams they have taken, the scores received and their attendance patterns.

The English, Math, and Life Sciences teachers will be able to make use of the assessment tools offered with the Scranton Performance Series Assessments that allow teachers to customize tests based on specific standards relating to New York State curricula. Results from these assessments will be used to revise the lessons to improve any weak areas found.

English and Math teachers will be able to use assessment tools from Acuity to gauge the readiness of their students to take New York State Regents exams, and adapt their teaching accordingly, to best meet the needs of the students.

Houses were developed to meet the needs of all students at Boys and Girls High School. Based on our assessment, we have determined that more staff was needed to provide students academic, attendance, post-secondary, mental-health, counseling intervention. Staff will work together to develop a comprehensive curriculum, intervention programs and other experiences to help students successfully meet NYS standards and compete in the 21st Century. With this new structure will need to develop several committees to meet the demand of all of our academic houses. The following committees will commence will start, fall 2008, attendance, technology, curriculum, activities, house, Title 1-SWP, staff recruitment, middle school articulation and professional development committee.

Finally, the school's Inquiry Team has been monitoring a group of students through the year, and we will be reviewing their recommendations for the school to consider in its plan for the coming year.

Directions: Schools will be asked to complete this appendix via a web-based survey. The URL for this survey will be posted on the NYCDOE website and announced in an upcoming edition of Principal's Weekly. The web-based survey will prompt your school to respond to each applicable question in this appendix to indicate your school's planned uses for 2008-09 C4E funding to support one or more of the listed C4E program strategies. The worksheet below can be used as a tool for advance planning of your responses.

Additional Guidance: In the May 20 edition of "Principals' Weekly", the Office of Teaching & Learning will release a memo mapping instructional strategies to some of the most common high-level school goals as identified through the CEP process. This document will specifically call out initiatives that meet C4E eligibility requirements and is intended to help principals and SLTs brainstorm ways that C4E funds can be effectively and creatively deployed to support overall educational goals.
