Workshop Title – Shubert Leadership Institute Series for School Administrators

Effective Leadership: Supporting Equity, Access, and Excellence in Arts Instruction

Description: The Shubert Foundation is supporting the NYCDOE Arts Office in the Division of Teaching and Learning in providing a four-day Shubert Arts Leadership Institute series in 2016-17. Principals and assistant principals who are responsible for programming, supporting and evaluating teachers of the arts and who are committed to advancing quality arts instruction in their schools are invited to participate in this workshop series. School Leaders will collaborate to address challenges of instruction practice, observations and feedback, using tools such as the Blueprints for Teaching and Learning in the Arts, the Framework for Great Schools, Teacher Effectiveness and the Specific Considerations in the Arts, and Assessment for Learning in the Arts.

Program Benefits

- ♦ Build leadership knowledge in content and skill development in the arts
- ♦ Build confidence in coaching, supporting and evaluating teachers of the arts
- ♦ Help school leaders understand the unique role of the arts in student learning and achievement
- ♦ Support effective arts instruction and assessment in each of the four arts disciplines to improve student outcomes in the arts
- ♦ Network with a broad community of school leaders committed to improving instructional outcomes and access to the arts for public schools across the city in alignment with State instructional requirements.
